Meet with Prof. Liana Chua

Liana Chua is a professor of social anthropology at the University of Cambridge and a Tunku Abdul Rahman University Assistant Professor in Malay World Studies. She obtained her PhD from Cambridge in 2007, and taught at Brunel University London for ten years before moving to the University of Cambridge in 2021. She has long-term research interests in Malaysian Borneo, where she has explored conversion to Christianity, ethnic politics and experiences of development and resettlement among Bidayuh communities.

Her current research centres on the more-than-human politics, socialities and aesthetics of orangutan conservation in the 'age of the Anthropocene'. As part of this work, she enjoys working across disciplinary and sectoral boundaries through collaborations with conservationists and public engagement.

NB: Spaces are limited. Entrance is by registration only & on a first come basis.
